Pikes Peak Habitat for Humanity Dedicates New House for Family of Five

Fountain, CO (June 16, 2018) – Sonni and Karen with their three children (one who is severely autistic) live in a small 2-bedroom townhome in an unsafe neighborhood. They were in dire need of a larger house to achieve safety and stability for their family.

Sonni and Karen helped build their house alongside volunteers. Each Habitat house is 90% volunteer-built, making it that much more affordable for families. Building costs average $150,000 per house, and Pikes Peak Habitat for Humanity (PPHFH) relies on sponsorships to cover the construction costs. This house is a special project -- a Blitz Build -- sponsored by CSI Construction Company. With the help of their subcontractors and suppliers donating services and materials, CSI graciously sponsored and built this house.

The public is invited to attend the ground blessing of this house:
