

Day 7: Monday, Feb. 7th

An Initiative of Pikes Peak Habitat for Humanity in celebration of the 2022 UN's World Interfaith Harmony Week

On day 7, consider some practical ways to engage in interfaith work. It is Pikes Peak Habitat's hope that these suggestions help to spark some ideas of how you can put your own, personal faith into action to help others in our local community, and learn from others from diverse backgrounds.

1 IDEAS TO ENGAGE

- 1) Research interfaith dialogue events happening near you and attend an event.
- 2) Share a meal with a friend who has a different faith tradition/belief system than your own, and ask them meaningful questions. Come to the conversation looking to learn from the other party, and ask open ended follow up questions in a respectful manner.
- 3) Attend a religious service from another tradition than your own.
- 4) Participate as a volunteer locally with Pikes Peak Habitat's Interfaith Build for Unity & build side by side with someone from a different tradition/belief system than your own.
- 5) Share your positive experience with interfaith events with others in your community.
- 6) Research how others around the world celebrate World Interfaith Harmony Week & plan your own event using your own skills and talents.
